Mr. Leiter was 70 years of age. He was the father of Lady Curzon of Kedleston. wife of the Viceroy and Governor General of India; of Miss Daisy Letter, whose wife of the Viceroy and Governor General of India; of Miss Dalsy Leiter, whose beauty has been the subject of note in English court circles, and of Joseph W. Leiter, speculator and investor.

As soon as it appeared that Mr. Leiter was scriously ill, messages were sent to the son, and to-day other members of the family were notified of the death. It was stated to-day at the Leiter cottage that, pending the arrival of Joseph Leiter, the time of the funeral would not be settled. It had been decided that the service would be head in Washington, D. C.

The Leiters are well known here. They have been among the summer residents for a number of years.

The drive taken yesterday by Mr. Leiter covered a distance of about twelve miles. Mrs. Leiter accompanied him and remarked on his good spirits. He spent the evening walking about the estate. Mrs. Leiter did not bonsider the trouble serious and administered the usual medicine, but when the remedy failed to have the desired effect the daughters were summoned and a doctor was sent for. Meanwhile, repeated doses of the restorative brought no response on the part of the patient, and before the doctor arrived Mr. Leiter was dead.

Every working day different problems in marketing goods are brought to the attention of a first class advertising agency. Each problem presents its peculiar features. Some of these problems cannot be solved by adver tising, and a reputable agent will refuse to advise a campaign just as a good lawyer will not recommend an ill-timed law suit. Constant dealing with many phases of marketing goods, and the actual use of many different mediums all over the countrynewspapers, magazines and other forms of advertising-put the agency in possession of data simply invaluable to anyone with anything to sell.
